

WHAT'S THE BIG DEAL?

Underage Drinking
in Minnesota

The Consequences of Drinking Outweigh the Experience.

What's the Big Deal?

Underage alcohol use is a big deal — and directly related to criminal behavior and serious social and health problems such as:

- Suicide and homicide.
- Traffic crashes, injuries and fatalities.
- Unprotected or unwanted sex, teen pregnancy, sexually transmitted diseases including HIV/AIDS and assaults.
- Withdrawal, depression and emotional/psychological difficulties.
- School delinquency, failure and dropout.

Half Empty or Half Full?

A Social Context For Underage Drinkers

Alcohol is the most commonly used drug among young people — more than tobacco and much more than marijuana. Many adults turn a blind eye to underage drinking, citing use in their own youth. But the world is very different from a generation ago, and today's socio-economic changes dramatically impact youth:

- More have jobs and their own income.
- More have cars, increasing their mobility.
- More live in single-parent or dual income households, resulting in more unsupervised time and activities.

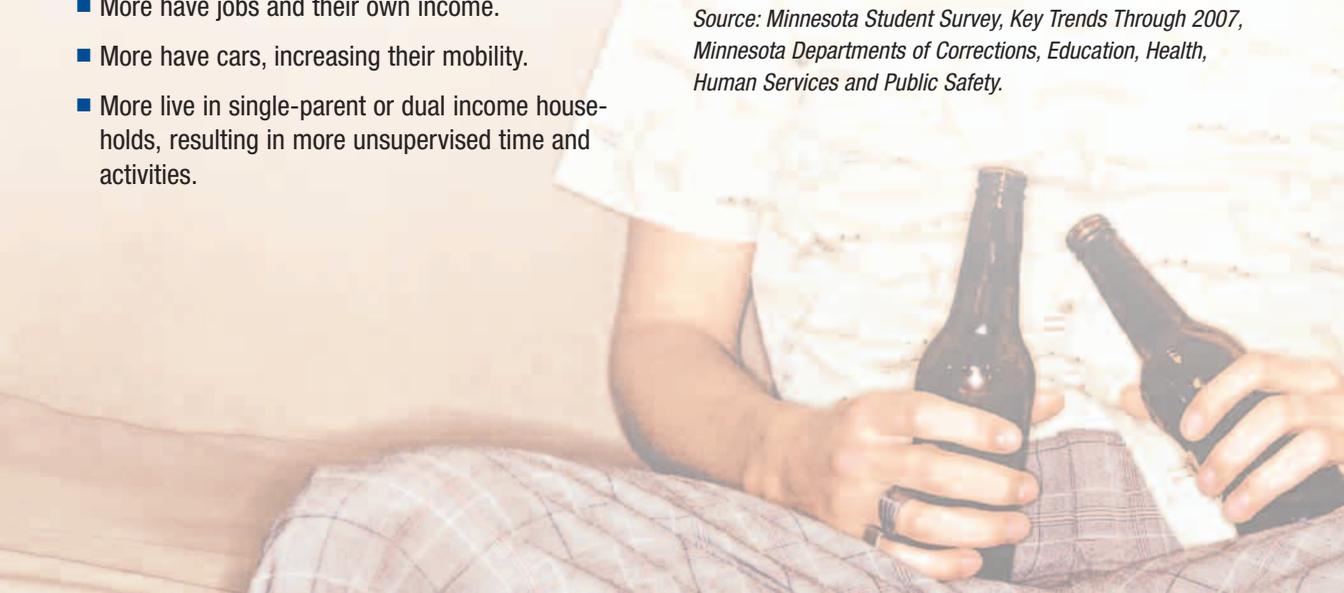

- More youth participate in “competitive” drinking games like beer pong, drinkopoly, flip the cup, and others that encourage binge drinking.
- Hard liquor is the “drink of choice” for youth, over beer and other alcoholic beverages.

Chugging Ahead...

While a recent decrease in underage drinking is progress, underage consumption still reflects a sobering reality, especially when it comes to binge drinking (five or more drinks in a row in a two-week period):

- About one-third of high school seniors and one in eight freshmen report binge drinking.
- Binge drinking can result in rapid intoxication, leading to alcohol poisoning and even death due to slowed or stopped breathing, choking on vomit, etc.
- One out of five male high school seniors and one out of seven female high school seniors is a frequent drinker. (Drinking 20 or more times during the past 12 months).
- Among college freshmen, girls consume alcohol and binge drink at a rate equal to boys.

The Consequences of Drinking Outweigh the Experience.

Good to the Last Drop

Too often youth take drinking to a disturbing and dangerous extreme. Alcohol use, especially binge drinking (consuming five or more (male), or four or more drinks (female), on the same occasion), contribute to:

- Suicide and death — Nearly half of all teen suicides each year and more than half of adolescent deaths in Minnesota involve alcohol.
- Traffic deaths and severe injuries — Nearly one-third of all traffic fatalities among 16 to 20 year olds are caused by drinking and driving.
- Violence, sexual assaults and date rape — Drinkers are more prone to injuries due to violence; and two-thirds of sexual assaults and date rapes among teens and college students are alcohol-related.
- Alcohol dependence — Those who begin drinking at age 15 are four times more likely than those who begin at age 21 to develop alcohol dependence.

The Hangover

The legal and financial consequences of underage drinking are great:

- A DWI offense can result in one year in jail, $3,000 fine, loss of driving privileges, legal costs and increased insurance rates. A DWI stays on a person's record for a minimum of 15 years.
- A citation for underage drinking by a driver can cost $700 and/or 90 days in jail, result in loss of driving privileges for 30 days, and remain on a person's record for 15 years. A second violation will result in loss of driving privileges for 180 days.
- Trying to purchase alcohol with a fake ID can result in loss of driving privileges for at least 90 days and a fine.

- An increasing number of Minnesota communities have social host ordinances that make it a criminal misdemeanor to host an event or gathering where persons under 21 years of age possess or consume alcohol regardless of whether the person hosting the event or gathering supplied the alcohol.

Alcohol: Not a Pitcher of Health

Alcohol contributes to serious health problems and physical consequences — especially among youth and teens:

- Sexual dysfunction, reproductive system disorders, fetal effects and spontaneous abortion.
- Brain damage to the decision-making and reasoning areas of the brain, which are still developing during the teen years.
- Loss of brain cells, resulting in the loss of ability to acquire and store memories.

Underage Drinking Isn't Just About the Kids

Adults who provide alcohol to a person under 21 years of age will be held responsible and suffer serious criminal and legal consequences. Adults who provide alcohol to an underage person will be charged with a gross misdemeanor, and can go to jail for up to one year and be fined up to $3,000. If an adult provides alcohol to an underage person and that person is killed or injured or kills or injures someone else, the adult can be charged with a felony and face time in prison.

Adults who provide alcohol are also subject to civil liability in cases of injury, property damage or death. Civil liability is not covered by most insurance.

Adults and parents both face dramatic rate increases in their insurance coverage due to their role in damages resulting from underage drinking.

Minnesota State Laws

Communities directly benefit when underage drinking is prevented or cited. Diligent enforcement results in fewer traffic crashes, fatalities, serious injuries, homicides, suicides, assaults, rapes, and other criminal activity that requires enforcement and emergency medical response.
